

History

Paper 1

Anglican History

Imperial Secondary Examinations Authority
January 1920 examinations

Answer questions in the space provided. If maths are required, show your working. If you require more space, attach with Treasury tag a piece of paper to this examination, clearly number where you left off, and provide cross-reference to the page where further work is located.

Do not write on the back of examination materials.

You will receive no marks if you interfere with the scoring box at the bottom of this page.

Instructions for this paper

- You must answer Question 1.
- For Questions 2 through 5, answer only two questions.

Institution: _____

Examinations code: _____

Do not make marks in this table.

Question	1	2	3	4	5	Total
Marks	2	24	24	24	24	50
Score

Textual analysis

1. (2 marks) Passages. Explain the context of one of the following passages.
- (a) 'It is our duty to throw off the reins of those who would subvert our institutions and reduce us unto despotism ... Tyrants with false alarm declaring catastrophe, seeking to sap the ways of our forefathers, they are those attackers which lay the law silent.' —Marcus Antonianus Isauricus (837 RE)
- (b) 'Edward is no traitor, for treason is to betray your king, and no man can betray himself.' —Marcus Robertson d'Antonianus (1510 RE).

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Essay questions

Answer only two questions.

2. (24 marks) Classics. Select one of the following prompts.
 - (a) The Peloponnesian War was unavoidable. Discuss.
 - (b) Was the Latin republic doomed to fall?
 - (c) To what extent was the Latin invasion of the Home Islands a boon to the inhabitants thereof?
3. (24 marks) The Varronian period. Select one of the following prompts.
 - (a) The importance of Varro is overstated. Discuss.
 - (b) To what extent did religious differences drive conflict between the restored Roman Republic and the Galilean continent?
 - (c) Examine the impact of trade restrictions during the early Varronian period.
4. (24 marks) Early modern history. Select one of the following prompts.
 - (a) To what extent did religious differences drive conflict between the pagan Kingdom of England and the Galilean Kingdom of Caledonia?
 - (b) To what extent was the civil war inevitable?
 - (c) Liberal and democratic ideology drove Anglican overseas expansionism. Discuss.
5. (24 marks) Political organisation. Select one of the following prompts.
 - (a) Parliamentary government is better than presidential government. To what extent do you agree with this statement?
 - (b) The colonies possess an appropriate level of home rule. Discuss.
 - (c) Direct democracy is on balance better than representative democracy. Discuss.

Essay 1

[illegible]

[illegible]

Essay 2

[illegible]

[illegible]